Gate Hinge

1. Line up the glass panel with the holes in the glass hinges on your balustrade post. Ensure the plastic gasket is put in-between the metal hinge and the glass.
2. Ensuring the nylon sleeves are inside the holes in the glass, pass the threaded bolts through the hinge and glass. (It is imperative the bolts don't come into contact with the glass, as this can cause breakages).
3. Pass the backing plate over the now inserted bolts and secure using the domed nuts, again ensuring the plastic gasket is in-between the metal backing plate and the glass as a barrier.
4. Repeat for the 2nd hinge, test the opening and ensure the glass has been installed level.

Gate Latch

1. Line up the glass panel with the holes in the glass latch on your balustrade post. Ensure the plastic gaskets is put in-between the metal latch and the glass.
2. Ensuring the nylon sleeves are inside the holes in the glass, pass the threaded bolts through the latch and glass. (It is imperative the bolts don't come into contact with the glass, as this can cause breakages).
3. Pass the backing plate over the now inserted bolts and secure using the domed nuts, again ensuring the plastic gasket is in-between the metal backing plate and the glass as a barrier.
4. Test the gate and ensure the latch lines up with the lock strike, the magnetic barrel in the latch should comfortably attract to the strike pad once closed.
